Nurry Lee

Nurry Lee is a South Korean - British pianist who began studying the piano at the age of six with her mother. Three years later, she won her first concerto competition at the age of nine. She attended the Royal College of Music, studying with Ian Jones, Sofya Gulyak and Dmitri Alexeev, where she was awarded the Milstein Award. Nurry also studied at the Korea National University of Arts in Seoul, with Jinsang Lee. She was generously supported by F.W Wright Pianos while completing her Artistic Diploma at the Royal Northern College Manchester studying with Graham Scott. While there, she won first prize at the RNCM

Chopin Competition and is praised as being a 'wonderful pianist' by Grammy-winning pianist, Emanuel Ax.

Nurry has performed all across Europe, U.K., Asia and West Africa. She is regarded as one of the most dynamic pianists of her generation, gaining international recognition. She has played on BBC Radio 3 with her piano trio, Trio Rouge. She made her debut in Seoul, South Korea to a sold out concert. Nurry won First Prize at the Piano House International Piano Competition 2023. In 2023 she performed at the Carnegie Hall, New York:

Nurry spends her time between Bath and London loving her piano, while following her dreams worldwide in keeping with the kind sense of music she gathered from her mother, Woonsoon Lee, during those early years of kind encouragement and attention in support of her natural talent. Nurry spent her early years in Bristol and Bath, where her mother and father supported her. Desserts of every kind are her favourite food, as she has a sweet tooth! Aside from the piano, she enjoys going to the gym, reading, art galleries and seeing her friends. She is working on releasing a new album, and her future aspirations include playing with orchestras and performing on some of the greatest concert stages across the world.
